Biography

I thrive when working with others in teams and meeting new people but I can also work effectively on my own. When doing work experience at Gallagher Insurance, I was assigned tasks to complete by myself which I had to achieve by a deadline. Working as a cashier at Cranbrook Rugby Club, I had to take orders and work with the cook. As a Marquee Erector I was required to teach new employees how to put up the marquees and how to effectively load vans to minimise the number of journeys necessary.

I enjoy working as Head of Tech at Glasgow University Student Television. This position involves working with members both in the University's television studio and at on-location shoots to create quality productions. This position allows me to work with others to help ascertain what camera and production equipment best suits their needs. Notably, I organised the livestreaming of the 2022 Glasgow University Welcome Address, and this is something I found particularly rewarding.

My hobbies include hiking, notably to Annapurna Base Camp in the Himalayas and the Lake District. I also enjoy weightlifting and running to maintain my physical fitness, having completed my first half marathon this year.
